

Justin P. Dollman

---

Education

SUNY Stony Brook – Political Science

2018 – Present

- PhD in Political Science
- Dissertation Topics:
  - Epistemic Virtue in Political Cognition
  - Political Values & the Urban-Rural Divide

Karl-Franzens Universität, Graz (Austria) – Philosophy

2014 to 2015

- Emphasis in philosophy of science
- Recipient of J. William & Elizabeth W. Fulbright Scholarship for Study Abroad

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville – Psychology

2009 to 2014

- GPA: 3.98, Summa cum laude
- Minor: Spanish
- Study abroad: Rome and Hannover (Germany)
- Recipient of Honors College Fellowship

Publications

Feldman, S., Vittorio, M., & Dollman, J. (2021) Authoritarianism and Support for Illiberal Politics and Parties. Routledge Handbook of Illiberalism.

Dollman, J., & Levine, W. H. (2016). The mental number dominates alternative, explicit coding of number magnitude. Quarterly Journal of Experimental Psychology, 69, 403–409. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1080/17470218.2015.1101146>

Teaching (at Stony Brook)

R for Social Scientists (Fall 2019)

Introduction to Statistics: Undergraduate, Master's, PhD (TA)

Experiments in Political Science (Spring & Fall 2023)

Math Camp for Incoming PhD Students

Research Experience

Thomas Woodson, Bibliometrics

Two semesters

Bill Levine, Cognitive Psychology

Five semesters

Denise Beike, Social Psychology

One semester

Natural & Formal Languages

English, native

Spanish, fluent

R, advanced

German, advanced

French, intermediate

Python, intermediate

HTML, CSS, JavaScript, beginner